Announcement

For the month of July Elder Thomas James will not be onsite Fridays between 12pm-3pm for people to drop off their tithes and offering; please bring them to church on Sunday or mail them to the church office. Thanks.

On July 4, 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was adopted by the 13 colonies, slavery existed. In fact, all of the founding fathers were slave holders and blacks didn't officially become citizens until 1868 with the ratification of the 14th Amendment and slavery wasn't abolished until 1865 with the 13th Amendment. Despite these awful details about American history, thousands of black men, free and enslaved, fought on both sides. Blacks fought for freedom in every engagement from 1775-1781. Earlier Crispus Attucks fought in 1770. Blacks served as soldiers, militia, couriers, spies, held offices, and led their communities.

Crispus Attucks was an early casualty of the American Revolution when he and five others were killed by British troops in the Boston Massacre.

Peter Salem and Salem Poor exhibited bravery at the Battle of Bunker Hill. Peter shot and killed British Major John Pitcairn. His image can be found in the painting of The Battle of Bunker Hill.

Salem Poor killed a high-ranking British officer, Lt. Col. James Abercrombie. His heroism was presented to George Washington noted in a petition signed by fourteen of his officers.

James Armistead (aka Lafayette) was the first African American double-spy, who gathered intelligence about the British. His service was critical to our success at the Battle of Yorktown.

During your 4th of July gatherings, discuss these heroes and others like Philip Abbott, Prince Mortimer, Henry Washington, Prince Whipple, John Chavis, Colonel Tye, Thomas Peters, Boston King, Lewis Charles, Jacob Francis, and Cyrus Tiffany. Their stories can be found on the internet.
